HOLT MUST SUPPORT 2 WIVES

Horace S. Holt, New England Telephone & Telegraph Company engineer, formerly of Lexington, who has two wives, must support both of them, according to a ruling of the Supreme Court reported to the Springfield Probate Court today.

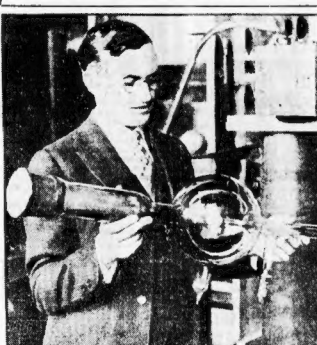

In its findings the full bench upheld Judge J. C. Long of Springfield, who refused the plea of Mrs. Marion B. Holt of that city and Lexington for separate support. Judge Long found that an agreement was in existence between the parties covering the question of alimony and custody and that the agreement was not obtained by fraud.

On October 4 Holt, although married to another woman in Mexico, lost his last effort to divorce Marion B. Holt when the Supreme Court dismissed his appeal from the Springfield Probate Court.

Today's decision adds another twist to the marital complications of Holt. He first received a divorce nisi, granted in December, 1925, on the grounds of cruel and abusive treatment. Final decree was held by the Superior Court ruled it invalid, transferring the case to Hampden County, where Holt lost.

"Evelyn will not go to the jail to see Mr. Lederman," the mother said. "She is all through with him. No, she has no love for him any longer. Her own girl continues to love a man who does what he has done."

"Before they were married he had to her and he has fled since. And now he has shamed us all."

Dutch Master Leads Concert

By JAMES SMITH

After a week of the most brilliant concert in the New York Philharmonic Orchestra at Symphony Hall, the conductorship of Willem Mengelberg, the Dutch master, was continued for the season. The main number on the program was the "La Gioconda" by Ponchielli, which was given in its entirety for the first time in this city. There was a fine conductor, the most delicate playing did not escape him.

ORCHESTRA RESPONSIVE

It was a real triumph for the orchestra, which was given a chance of showing its strength in a new way. 'La Gioconda' Is Finely Sung

By JAMES SMITH

"La Gioconda," Ponchielli's popular opera which is so much a favorite for the opening night of an opera season, but which the Dutch master, Willem Mengelberg, has brought to the attention of the Boston Opera House last night. The opera has one of the most beautiful scores in the world, and the very atmosphere of the action, and the very character of the music, was given in its entirety for the first time in this city. There was a fine conductor, the most delicate playing did not escape him.

Plain facts about Plastics

FOR FOURTEEN YEARS we have told the story of Plastic Footwear to the public. Yet we know that there are thousands of men and women within easy reach of our store who suffer needlessly from foot-trouble.

For their benefit we restate the simple facts which explain the amazing comfort to be found in Plastic Shoes.

1. Plastics are shaped to the natural lines of the foot. The inner-line of the shoe is straight, allowing each toe to extend directly forward at each step.

2. The Plastic Arch is flexible. It supports, yet it permits healthy exercise of the arch muscles.

3. The Plastic Heel is placed where it distributes the weight of the body evenly.

4. Plastics are made of the choicest leathers, so luxuriously soft and pliable that they are kindness itself to your feet.

We shall be glad to send you our Plastic catalogue, which shows Plastic styles for Men, Women and Children. It gives full directions for ordering Plastics by mail. Write or call for your copy. Plastics are made for Men, Women and Children and sold only by Thayer McNeil.

THE MAJOR means well, but he is wrong. The sight of men and women after the elections and modern business methods have done their work.

HE PROBABLY did not think that he would live to see electric light and power develop into a business of $100,000,000.

Buy At Low Cash Prices! Pay In Installments If You Wish!

It has been a most interesting task to provide the public with a simple and sound plan which combines the saving of our low cash prices and the convenience of installment payments. To announce the completion of such an arrangement gives us great satisfaction.

A NEW SERVICE TO THE PUBLIC—UNITES THE LOW CASH PRICES OF TIMOTHY SMITH'S WITH THE THRIFTY DEFERRED PAYMENT MORRIS PLAN

Whether it's a suit for father, a fur coat for mother or sister, a rug for the parlor, a cook stove for the kitchen or a complete winter outfit for all the children, NOW you can buy at our low cash prices and pay if you wish by installments. Timothy Smith Co. and the Morris Plan have entered into an arrangement which makes this possible. We believe this store is the first in New England to offer the public such an advantageous opportunity.

Select whatever things you want—the Morris Plan pays Timothy Smith cash; you repay the Morris Plan in installments

For your convenience there is a Morris Plan office in our store where details can be arranged and payments made. The plan is open to all trustworthy people, the charge for this service is very reasonable, no endorses are required, the advantages are many. Remember, too, that by this plan we do not depart from a cash policy and therefore can assure a continuance of our notably low cash prices.

Full details of the plan will be furnished cheerfully if you will call at the Morris Plan office on our second floor.

Tunney Suffers Worst Beating of Career at Greb's Hands

Goodwear Co.
FROM MAKER TO WEARER

This is the fourth of a series of articles by the most famous golf player in America, which I shall appear daily in the Boston Evening American. Tomorrow Stewart Maiden will tell of "the greatest golf shot he ever saw."

North Jess Hawley, Dartmouth coach, nor Arnold Horwien, mentor of the Harvard eleven, would make any predictions regarding the probable outcome of the Green-Cribson meet.

"I wouldn't say we were confident of winning," said Coach Hawley. "We expect a hard contest, and with the material I have the game looks like an even break. It should be a stirring game."

"I have nothing to say regarding the chances of either Harvard or Dartmouth," was the succinct comment of Horwien.

World naturally goes to Tom Gooden who has started every game since. Strong—his first gain was a yard.

The old hands, Doc and Corrie, said they were ready to heal up. I sent word to my family that I had been working so hard that I needed a rest. I certainly did need a rest. Then I began to plan for the future. I determined to make a career out of fighting, and I was going to do it in the most professional manner of fighting, and even though this lesson was a dear one, it was a lasting one.

My then manager, Frank "Doc" Bogler, was for having me rest up and get my bearings. He held that no man could have received as severe a beating as I did at the constantly busy hands and head of Grub and some back kids.

Then I learned "Doc" that I was different from other fighters; that I had lived the type of life that makes for rapid recuperation and that I had youth on my side. I was ready for training two weeks after other fighters would be ready for training. I was ready for my next fight, not July 2 and I was a twice round decision from him.

Tomorrow Tunney tells of his two sensational battles with Charley

Business and Sport.
Leave to Resign.
Mussolini on Wire.

Red-Hot Rivalry
Joe Page Visits
Grid War in West

IT IS REGULARLY MOVED AND SECONDED

MORE and more does the business air crawl into our sports. The shadow of the big money is responsible. The young man who fumbles in a big game knows that he is letting down a big house. He feels something like the star actor who forgets his lines and gams up the scene just as the rillyun has his trusty cannon pointed and is hissing Curs-a-see you, Jack Dalton.

The quarterback of the Syracuse eleven has resigned. This is a new method. The young man, in the heat of the Army rumpus, smacked the referee on the nose. That was undoubtedly one of the most glaring examples of the over-emphasis of the gridiron game. It over-emphasized the nose. Shows also the tendency in the youthful mind created by the large fortunes assimilated by the Dempseys and the Tundays et al.

Naturally, the referee was shocked as the Syracuse youth wasn't pulling his punches at the time. After several conferences of deans and coaches, it was voted that the resignation of the smacking quarterback would be accepted. We have heard of rugged and excitable young men being fired off football teams by an indignant faculty. We have heard of boys jumping school when something happened that was not according to their, but the resigning stuff is new.

It is probable that in the near future the large colleges will have personnel boards, like the department stores. The athletic young men who try for the teams will have to be character examined before they qualify. They will be tossed out for such things as beetling brows, huge knuckles, abbreviated foreheads, and other eye-catching, the same being supposed to denote a bit more than the normal amount of temper in an individual.

In that way such unforeseen incidents as the referee socking will be avoided. Though we must admit that at various times, we have seen officials who might have been thumped by the athlete without it doing anybody, especially the officials, the least harm.

THE SYRACUSE INCIDENT GOES TO PROVE THAT A QUARTERBACK SHOULD USE HIS OWN HEAD, AND NEVER THE REFEREE'S.

Deplorably will now turn attention to the over-emphasis of philosophy in Columbus. Otherwise the proletariat will believe the philosopher's words to be nothing but a red brick.

Mussolini will undoubtedly be hanging onto the end of a cable to find out what Garza does against the large Green tomorrow. The young man should be good in the north and zone.

REAL, RED HOT RIVALS

WHILE the Harvard Indian and Harvard are swapping shocks at the Stadium, the West will be watching one of the most important collisions of a jumbled season. When Michigan and Illinois whirly together, the frenzied fan gets a look at an intense and fervent rivalry that makes most other college wars look like sham battles.

The winner will be well on the road to the Conference title, and that crown means as much football ability as happens to be lying around loose in any sector. Friedman and Oosterbaan, with Oberlander and Tully out of the picture, are the greatest of all forward pass combinations. They figure to carry the Wolverines along to the pinnacle, unless something unexpected steps into the path.

Zupke has a real team at Illinois, and confidently expects to provide the unlooked for obstacle. But the boys who know say that there isn't a single spot that even slightly wobbles on the whole Michigan front. They were saying that about Dartmouth, as we recall it, just about a week ago.

Up old and words, of tongue or pen
The saddest these: We were leading when—

JOE PAGE, the famous international scout, came down from Quebec and helped to organize the new Class AA hockey league. Joe is a most unusual chap. He leaves Canada four or five times a year. Imagine that.

Dora Dumb is going to the game. Her guests told her it would be a great show, and she hopes it isn't musical comedy. She likes melodramas much better.

Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

QUALITY where quality should be—in the tobacco

ALL smokers will agree that it's what's inside that counts—yet for years men have paid extra for containers instead of for their contents.

Granger Rough Cut now offers a common-sense innovation. Quality leaf, an exclusive and secret mellowing method, a special cool-burning cut—but no frills. A practical wrapper of soft foil; thoroughly satisfying, mild and light, comfortable to carry—but inexpensive; and as a result, a pipe tobacco of genuine quality which retails at ten cents!

Economy outside, quality inside; queer no one thought of it before. But it's certainly here now—and certain, too, of a record-breaking welcome.

GRANGER ROUGH CUT

Music, Light--Great Forces

They Increase the Milk and Egg Supply

CONTENTED COWS, PLEASED BY MUSIC FROM A TALKING MACHINE, GIVE MORE MILK.

In short days of winter, poultry farmers keep electric lights going in the chicken houses until 9 or 10 o'clock at night. The chickens, believing the sun has not yet retired, continue to scratch and eat and build up energy that produces eggs. And at the end of the year the farmer has had many more eggs.

Possibly the hens do not last as long under this forcing process. But with hens and with cows the great thing is to get all the eggs and milk you can, then eat the hens and cows and get new ones. It is cruel, but "good business."

This interesting picture shows an experiment by a dairyman in Georgia. He has a talking machine in the pasture, playing gentle music suitable to the quiet nature of the cow, and he says that he gets more milk from the same cows than he used to do.

The thing might well be tried in big dairies, where cows are kept day in and day out, year after year, until their milk-producing time is over, when they are made into the so-called "hot dogs" sold along the roadside.

Music has many uses that are neglected.

A great French doctor managing a hospital built by the Rothschilds in Paris for children says delicate children should always be awakened by the sound of gentle music, not by rough shaking or calling.

In factories where cigars are made, music speeds up the work, keeps the people cheerful and increases the output.

Many years ago, kings discovered that when they had music, bands playing fighting tunes, ahead of the soldiers, the soldiers did their killing more enthusiastically and extensively.

Sunday in New Hampshire

For Many, a Dearest Day

The Rev. Cellan Ufford, a Unitarian minister of Rochester, New Hampshire, gives great encouragement to the liberal-minded of that State by declaring himself in favor of a rational instead of a blue law Sunday.

New Hampshire folk so fortunate as to reside in Nashua, only twelve miles from music and the movies in Lowell, or to dwell in Derry, within easy driving distance of Lawrence, can have no conception of what the Sabbath is like in towns north and east.

In the Rev. Mr. Ufford's city, about all the young people can do on Sunday is go to church, walk up one side of Main Street and down the other, flirt a little, read the Sunday newspaper, sit at the front window and go to bed.

What many young men of New Hampshire want on Sunday is baseball, a beautiful diversion about as innocent as any we know of. Thousands of New Hampshire folk would welcome the opportunity to attend Sunday evening concerts by local bands or orchestras.

New Hampshire folk who can afford automobiles AND membership in the country clubs are not worrying about the blue laws. They are "nice" people, and no chief of police who knows enough to come in out of the rain would even think of bothering them.

There ARE nice people in New Hampshire, however, who are worrying because the first thing many boys and girls do after receiving their high school diplomas is hurry away from the State of their birth, which is their real need of them.

Given a few more Cellan Uffords, with courage and common sense as well as piety, and the Granite State may learn, sooner or later, that ONE way to keep the young folks at home is to make the home more attractive.

Moses' Spring

What a Long Trip!

Professor Ellis of Swarthmore has found a camping place of the wandering Jews not far from the spot where Moses struck the rock. The water is still flowing from that miraculous spring, and the Turks piped it a distance of twenty miles during the war. They should be grateful to Moses. Difficult to understand why Moses spent forty years crossing a desert that you can cross in a few days with a small automobile. You could cross it on your hands and knees more rapidly than Moses crossed.

Guarding the Investor

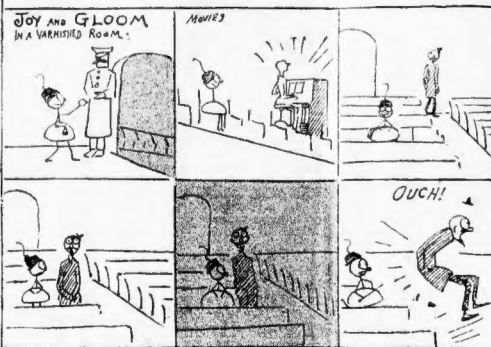

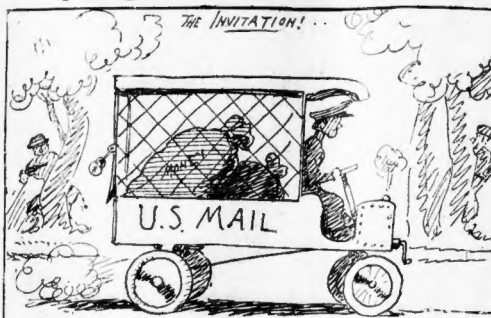

The investment bankers of the nation, at their Quebec convention, were prompt to list as among the first of their duties the "presentation to the investment world, through the adoption of a standard method of circularization, of complete, candid and concise information concerning the security offered."

They deserve credit accordingly. The basis of their business is confidence. It requires the utmost candor.

But there remains the later problem, stressed by Professor Ripley, of insuring to the security owner, after he has become an owner, adequate information of the corporation's progress.

Here, too, the investment bankers can do a useful service by insisting upon the standardized and frequent reports.

Tempting the Bandits

IN WHAT YEAR DO YOU LIVE?

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE question, "Where do you live?" is the same as the question, "When do you live?"

One of the things that strikes the traveler to Europe that in almost every country he visits there seems to be a lifetime or so behind the United States. When you cross the boundary into Mexico you seem to drop back two hundred years.

Because it is 1926 is no proof that everybody is living in that year. There are people living in the Victorian age. There are those who cling not only to the habits and dress, but the ideas and points of view, of a former time.

It is rare to find a modern mind, that is, one fully abreast of progress and easily accepting the last data that have been established.

It is not true that reforms are popular. On the contrary, the mind of most people is set against reform. They are reactionary, and get along much better with things as they used to be.

Doubtless there are places in the Orient where the ideas of a thousand years ago are still prevalent, and there are spots in Europe where the point of view of long since vanished antiquity holds sway. Just as there are places in the United States where people pass laws against evolution and indignantly declare that the sun does move around the earth.

In fact, contemporaneous history is far from contemporaneous. Mr. Zangwill points out somewhere that instead of the Middle Ages and the ancient regime being things of the past, they are now to some extent here and there extant.

In Mexico the climate is not a matter of north and south, but of up and down. On the lower levels it is tropical, but as you ascend the heights it becomes colder.

In the same way, you do not have to go back in years to get ancient history. All you have to do is to cross a boundary.

There are perhaps a few forward minded people. They are living in the years to come, and it will take the world some time to catch up with them.

WHEN YOUTH GOES AWAY FROM THE FAMILY FIRESIDE

SITTING PRETTY

You are away at school, or you have gone to a strange city to take up your chosen profession among those who meet you for the first time. What sort of impression do you make?

Are you speaking tones so well modulated that they carry an air of educated refinement or are they loud and strident and quarrelsome? Do you want to rattle people by your unpleasant voice?

How about your English? Is it correct and your words enunciated clearly so that you are easily understood?

Or do you slide your words together, leaving off your "g" or some other, equally essential letter?

You may think that it is not necessary to be so particular. You find you can attract "quite a crowd" the first thing.

But if you are one of those careless talkers the crowd you attract is likely to be a lot younger crowd than you should go in with. You don't know any better, or else it is the crowd you would be better off without.

Your parents bear a good name and an honorable one. It is not your duty to create an impression that corresponds with your best name tradition?

Odds and Ends of the Town

By THE STAFF

POOR FISH!

THE presence of seals in the bay is claimed by fishermen to be the cause of your small fishing. The record catches have been recorded. ACCORDING TO WILLIAM P. DYER OF DORCHESTER AND ELEANOR WILSON, who is generally the first and last to fish for that particular table delicacy, is "dependent" to use his own term. WILLIAM is not alone in this respect.

A LONG SHOT

Thousands of drivers of automobiles in this State harbor a desire, secret or avowed, to obtain a registration number under 10,000, according to word from the office of REGISTERED FRANK A. GOODWIN. The chances are 999,999 to 1 that they can't get them. Those who have them are prepared to apply each year for the same numbers. MR. GOODWIN says the motorists think more of the numbers than they do of their bankrolls.

SENATE CHAPLAIN

REV. DR. EDWARD A. HORTON, LL.D., for twenty-four years chaplain of the MASSACHUSETTS SENATE, keeps young with his eighty-three years on his shoulders by reading newspapers. "They reflect human nature in all its phases," he says. "I get a wide vision of everything going on in other words, a panorama of events everywhere. I keep young by reading the newspapers while eating. It makes me eat slowly and avoid indigestion."

TEMPTING FATE

DENNIS R. DORSEY, former Boston grocer, now retired and living in Brighton, started on his semi-annual trip to the States a few years ago. After picking out one of the latest Autumn styles of clothes, he was undecided whether to do the new classic line and there he looked like rain. The papers said to that that day, and he did. He ordered the old hat sent home, and he ordered a new one. He was on his way, too late to turn back, and how it rained!

CRIME WAVE

Chicks in the office of the BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION, U.S. DEPT. OF JUSTICE, are conversing with CLARA BARKER, alias "LAUREL LAW SCHOOL," who is one of the most famous female criminals in the country. She is on her way to the State Prison at Mansfield, where she will be confined for life.
